

Mole Valley Quilters

March 2020

Mole Valley Quilters meet on the 1st Thursday of the month at the Old Barn Hall, Bookham, Surrey at 7.00pm.

Welcome to spring! Let's hope the rain will stop soon and we can get in the garden! No doubt you have all had time to sew. But let us not forget all those people whose homes have been flooded not once but three times.

Last month we had a very interesting talk by Kate Findlay with superb fast videos of how she put her quilts together—it made it look so simple. Kate also showed us the workings of her Hadron Collider series— The Large Hadron Collider is the world's largest and highest-energy particle collider and the largest machine in the world and is located at CERN in Geneva Switzerland. Kate very kindly contributed to our raffle with her cards and I think many of us were eager to join one of her workshops.

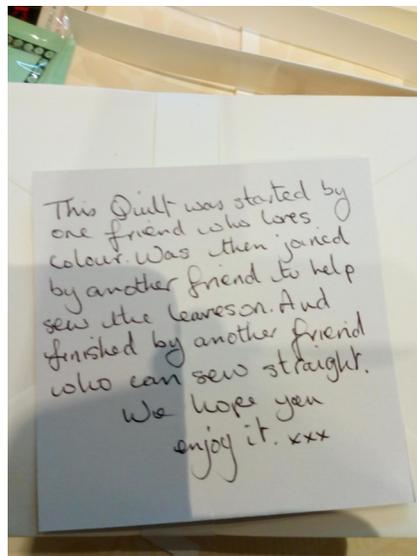

A big thank you to all those members who made a block/blocks in aid of the Australia's bush fires. I delivered 17 blocks to Janet Hall plus Penny Anslow's quilt in beautiful colours. Thank you all very much.

Bookham Village Day is Saturday 20 June 2020 and this year the theme is Safari. We have chosen a pattern and Pippa will explain all details at the end of the meeting. Thank you in advance to all members who volunteer to make a block!

Tonight's meeting we welcome Julia Gahagan—"Its a small world" - Julia specialises in making small and miniature quilts.

Fork Biscuits (From Eira Warren)

40z (100g) Butter, softened
 20z (15g) Castor sugar
 50z (150g) SR Flour
 Oven 180C/350F/Gas 4

- Lightly grease 2 baking trays
- Measure butter into bowl and beat with wooden spoon
- Gradually beat in sugar, then mix in flour
- Bring mixture together with your hands to form a dough
- Form dough into balls about size of walnut and place well apart on the prepared baking trays
- Dip a fork into a little water and use to flatten the biscuits
- Bake in pre-heated oven about 15-20 minutes until very pale golden
- Lift off baking tray and cool completely on wire rack

(Eira put a small piece of glace cherry on her biscuits)
 (for chocolate fork biscuits use 4.5 oz (120g) SR flour and .5 oz (15g) cocoa)
