Happy Christmas to all Mole Valley Quilters!

When you read this we shall all be in Party mood for our Christmas Meeting all prepared for us by the Great Bookham Housegroup.

I think everyone had a good 'retail therapy' evening last month with Creative Quilting.

Hopefully we shall all be wearing our new homemade badges to the Christmas party. It will be very interesting to see all the different ideas.

Linda is going to finish the Hexagon Quilt and has asked everyone to bring a 10" square of flowery fabric to go on the back. If you forget I am sure you can give it to Linda in January.

Thank you to everyone who volunteered to sew a block for the Charity puppy dog quilt for the Exhibition—Linda will also put this quilt together.

After a couple of quiet Meetings we now have a speaker in January. Gail Lawther is coming to give her talk on "Glorious Gardens". A good title for a January talk!.

This is a change from our usual programme so we will instead have the "Show and Tell" in February. This will give us a little longer to stitch something to show .. And also show "my work in progress".

Wishing you all a very Happy and peaceful Christmas

Exhibition 2018

The Exhibition Committee has been re-organised and is up and running with Ruth Archer as 'our leader'. With some changes to our working schedule, we forge ahead as planned towards October 2018.

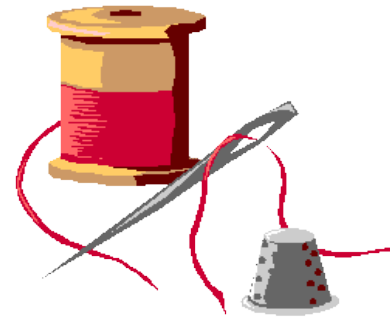

LOST

Marie-Louise has lost her file of Newsletters which she lends to new members so they can read about MVQ and what we have been doing. If you have this file could you please give it back to Marie-Louise

Summer Challenge 2018

Ruth Archer handed out the Summer challenge last meeting. If you have not got a copy please speak to Ruth.

Ruth will be speaking about this later on.
